Test 1 Advice

The following comments concerning arrangements for the test have been prepared for the benefit of students:

- the test will be held in week five with the timing of the test at the various campuses to be announced at the lectures,

- the test covers the material from weeks one to four of the course (as per the schedule provided on the course web page),

- the test is open book (any materials may be taken into the test),

- the test is 45 minutes, from five minutes past the hour to ten minutes to the hour,

- there will be questions totalling 180 marks on the test and the final mark out of 15 will be obtained by dividing the score out of 180 by 10 (with a maximum mark of 15),

- students should attempt as many questions as they can in the time available,

- full working must be shown to obtain maximum credit,

- students are required to bring along writing materials (pens, paper, pencils),

- students will be required to present their student ID,

- it is suggested that students review the questions from the 2005 tutorial sheets one to four (all on the course web site) to get an indication of the style of questions that are likely to be on the test,

- students will not be allowed to take the test away with them (it will however be returned to them with their marked test),

- it is expected that the marked tests will be returned to students and solutions posted to the course web site by the end of week 6.
